Data Depth and Discriminant Analysis

P. Chaudhuri[1]

[1] Indian Statistical Institute, India

Abstract

Over the last couple of decades, data depth has emerged as a powerful statistical tool for multivariate analysis. In this talk I'll show how it can be used to develop nonparametric and semiparametric classifiers. I'll demonstrate the performance of such classfiers on several challenging benchmark date sets obtained from machine learning literature and archives.